“Destined For Greatness”

Who Are We and What are We up To?

Right now the All Hallows Photographers are completing an individual expression project that encompasses the sole aspect of individual art and photography. All of these creative minds develop and implement their personal views of life and the world around them. These students connect themselves and their art to the both the natural world and post modernistic world in which we live in.

Photo Essays are student generated and teacher facilitated!!! All Hallows photographers take the camera and run with it! They work beyond school perimeters to provide insight into the art and strive to transcend current concepts and ideals.

Mrs. Brady’s photography club is inspired by photojournalists that created a visual language in 20th century American culture. Brady’s photojournalists use the camera as a vessel for introspective reflection and documentation.
